DAY TRIPS FROM HALIFAX

LET THESE NATIONAL HISTORIC SITES
INSPIRE YOUR NEXT ADVENTURE
AND TRAVEL INTO THE PAST

Halifax Citadel
National Historic Site

Downtown Halifax

- Join the 78th Highlanders in the Soldier for a Day tour! Don an authentic uniform, practice drills, and learn how to fire a rifle or play a drum.
- Visit the newest signature exhibit Fortress Halifax - A City Shaped by Conflict and immerse yourself in the history of Kijipuktuk (Halifax).
- Learn about the history of alcohol in the British military as you savour unique spirits created by Compass Distillers, and aged in oak barrels stored on-site.
- Slip into the shadows of the Citadel and hear stories of its haunted history on a ghost tour.
- Explore the vast Halifax Defence Complex - a series of forts and batteries that helped protect and defend this valuable harbour. Make plans to visit all five centrally located Parks Canada administered national historic sites including Georges Island, Fort McNab, York Redoubt and Prince of Wales Tower.

Georges Island
National Historic Site

Downtown Halifax

- Catch the ferry or join a guided kayak tour to the island, the views are one of a kind.
- Learn about the fascinating history of the island and its significant contribution during the world wars.
- Explore the subterranean maze of tunnels and hidden fortifications on a guided tour below Fort Charlotte.
- Discover why Georges Island is a sacred and culturally significant site for the Acadian community.

Grand-Pré
National Historic Site

 1 hour

- Immerse yourself in the Acadians' tragic upheaval during the 18th century with a guided tour.
- Walk in the Victorian gardens to view the famous Statue of Evangeline and admire the spectacular landscape of the UNESCO World Heritage Site.
- Weekend getaway anyone? Spend the night in an oTENTik for an immersive experience of Grand-Pré's magnificent landscape.
- On your way back, stop by Fort Edward National Historic Site. Step inside Canada's oldest blockhouse and travel back to the mid-1700s when British troops struggled for control of North America during the age of empire.

CONSERVING

FOR THE FUTURE

FEATURED STORY

THE CHALLENGE

How can we identify the most important places to protect in and around Kejimikujik National Park and National Historic Site? The park is located in the Kespukwiti Conservation Corridor, a significant region in southern Nova Scotia, rich in biodiversity and of cultural importance to the Mi'kmaq.

A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION

By weaving Mi'kmaq Traditional Knowledge and Western science, the Mi'kmaq of Nova Scotia, Parks Canada, and over 15 partners developed an interactive map highlighting critical areas for conservation.

THE RESULT

The online map integrates over 70 layers of ecological and cultural data, including historic photos and stories. It also supports decision making, and helps identify how to best protect species at risk and where to prioritize land stewardship across the region.

GET INVOLVED

NOW IT'S YOUR TURN

Learning more is the first step! Get the inside scoop on what scientists are doing to maintain and protect these special places across Canada. Don't miss the Field Notes vlogs, Climate Crew series or the Connected podcast.

Take conservation into your own hands and participate in citizen science activities. Record your observations of plants and animals in the iNaturalist app, take a "Coastie" to help monitor coastal changes, clean up shorelines, and more!

A TREASURE

My favourite gem in Kouchibouguac National Park is the Bog Trail. The view from the observation tower is amazing, and walking through the bog almost makes you feel like you're on another planet! It's very unique. Love it!

BACKCOUNTRY CAMPING GEM

My favourite lesser-known gem in Gros Morne National Park is the Stanleyville Trail in the southeastern region. This charming trail through the boreal forest leads to a secluded cove on the beach, where you can relax in a true fjord near the Atlantic Ocean. Backcountry camping here is spectacular—there's nothing like watching the sunrise over Killdevil Mountain while sipping your morning coffee. You may even see some marine wildlife! Don't feel like hiking? This location is also accessible by kayak; you can depart from the Lomond Campground.

THE EDGE OF THE WORLD

Until I stood along the white picket fence outside Cape Spear Lighthouse National Historic Site I didn't fully appreciate what it felt like to be standing at the most easterly point in Canada. Every time I visit it's still truly fascinating to be standing at the edge of the world as waves crash the rocks below and I get to watch the whales dance in the ocean before me.

SALLIKULUK

Rose Island, (Sallikuluk in Inuktitut) has been used by generations of Inuit who have lived, hunted, gathered, and used the island as a meeting place. Part of Torngat Mountains National Park, this small island located in Saglek Bay, is also a resting place for Inuit as there are over 600 traditional Inuit rock graves. When you step onto the island you know you have arrived at a truly special place.

PLAYING UNDER THE AUTUMN LEAVES

Kedge Beach at Kejimikujik National Park and National Historic Site is a favourite for our family. We love to bike there for a refreshing swim when we're camping, and we love to play and picnic there under the brilliant autumn leaves.

Ethain

PICTURESQUE PANORAMA

The lookout at Oceanview is my favourite panorama in Prince Edward Island National Park. It seems like you can see the whole history of PEI written across the horizon from there. Where else can you see lighthouses, sand dunes, busy beaches, the site of a famous shipwreck, red cliffs, Krummholz forest and bank swallows with a turn of your head?
