What's New

During your visit, explore our multi-award winning exhibits and the recently restored Proprietor's House. Our new living history program provides visitors with a fun opportunity to learn about the traditional fishery by chatting with employees of James Ryan circa 1900. Each visit will be different, with a variety of daily activities such as net mending and live demonstrations related to the fishery, special musical guests, art exhibits and much more! Don't miss our newest exhibit about the fascinating history and evolution of traditional Newfoundland outport furniture. Plan to spend the whole afternoon at the Ryan Premises National Historic Site this summer. This newly established site is still developing, so please call ahead for summer activity schedules.
